6. Bad Hermeneutic

We need to follow the . . .

Literal, historical, grammatical principle of interpretation
7 Reasons For Different Views

- Grammatical
  . . . Example is Titus 2:13

- Historical
  . . . Example is Matthew 5:31

- Literal
  . . . Example is Daniel 9:25-27
Example of Being Literal Allegorical or Spiritualizing?
In Mark 4:35 - 41 we are told that Jesus calmed the storm on the Sea of Galilee. This wonderful story teaches us that the storm is like the trials and struggles of our lives and so we should understand that God will calm the storms of our lives and bring us peace and victory. Therefore, we should not be afraid but instead just trust God.
Example of Being Literal Allegorical or Spiritualizing?

Genesis 37 tells us that Joseph’s brothers threw him into a pit and later sold him to some Midianite traders who sold him in Egypt. This is a great story that teaches us that our enemies can attack us and throw us into a pit, but we should not fear because God is the God of comeback and favor. God will never allow us to remain in a dirty pit of depression, despair, and depravity because his purpose is one of blessing, purpose, and breakthrough. It’s time to overcome our pits! What is the pit that is facing your life today? Maybe it’s a financial pit. Maybe it’s an emotional pit. Maybe it’s a pit of sickness? Maybe it’s a relational pit. Well, prepare yourself while you are in that pit because God is about ready to bring you from the pit to the palace!
Example of Being Literal Allegorical or Spiritualizing?
In Matthew 28:19-20 we read, “Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” This passage is proof that God is a trinity.
